

CHARGES THEFT OF $2,200 IN STOCKS

Cambridge Furniture Man
Causes Arrest of His
23-Year-Old Clerk

John E. Dawes, twenty-three years old, of No. 94 Cambridge street, Cambridge, is under arrest charged with the larceny of $2,200 worth of telephone stocks, which were sent by registered mail to his employee, John A. Modin, who owns a furniture store at No. 411 Cambridge street, Cambridge. The stocks, it is charged, were signed for by Dawes on July 2. According to the police, he told them that he had the securities on Modin's desk, immediately after receiving them.

Modin states that he found the empty envelope on his desk yesterday morning, when it had apparently just been placed, and consequently caused the arrest of Dawes.

Lawrence Man Warns Trolley Company to Complete Work

Lawrence, Sept. 7.—Angered at the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company in failing to fix its tracks to grade on Lawrence street to allow the continuation of work by the city department of engineering on Bunker Hill street, John Flanagan, commissioner of engineering of this city, declared that unless the street railway immediately complied he would introduce an order to allow the running of trolleys in this city. He said that he would issue a final demand on the company to complete the work, failing which he would order the city laborers to fill in the tracks with cement, and let the company dig them out.

EXHIBIT TO FEATURE PHOTOGRAPHERS' MEET

Springfield, Sept. 7.—Public exhibits of photographic work and modern radio equipment feature the annual meeting of the New England Photographers' Association, which began today the second day of its three-day sessions. The public exhibits are being held in the city auditorium, and include the work of some of New England's best-known professional photographers.

FALL RIVER WOMAN SCALDED TO DEATH

Fall River, Sept. 7.—Mrs. Mary C. Brown, No. 14 Brew street, lost her life in an accident in which she was the victim while washing clothes in the kitchen of her home. She was falling pulled over by a large tub of hot water which burned the greatest part of her body.

DEMOCRATS RAP PROPOSED NEW TARIFF BILL IS PROTESTED

By International News Service.
Washington, D. C., Sept. 7.—With an eye to next year's Congressional elections, the Democrats in Congress have launched an attack against the American valuation system applied to tariffs on imports, charging that it is the Republican program, goes to the heart of the tariff system. Under the American valuation plan, goods imported from the United States for export to other countries would be computed upon that price.

"It is essential for the security of our manufacturers and merchants alike, in transacting international business, that they be able to estimate with reasonable accuracy, and about the same, the cost of goods to be imported. Under the American valuation plan, the cost of goods to be imported is not known until they are landed in the United States for export to other countries. Our foreign trade is dependent upon exchange of merchandise. It is better on a grand scale, and the more factors of uncertainty that can be eliminated, the greater the trade between nations."

PROBABLE TRADING.
"The merchant who must buy his wares six months to a year or more in advance and be committed to make such purchases with no idea of what some American tariff and all the various little and little combinations charged with controlling price."

"The ease with which price fixing has become a fact in the United States was demonstrated, it is being pointed out, by Bernard M. Baruch in his organization and direction of the War Industries Board during the war period."

Austrian Ultimatum Reported Sent to Budapest

By International News Service.
London, Sept. 7.—War clouds over central Europe grew thicker today. An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Vienna said that the Austrian government has dispatched an ultimatum to Budapest, threatening to break all diplomatic relations with Hungary unless the armed Hungarian forces retire from Austria and from the territory in west Hungary that was promised to Austria under the Trianon treaty.

ability of foreign competition. Under this new plan, however, over central Europe grow thicker today. An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Vienna said that the Austrian government has dispatched an ultimatum to Budapest, threatening to break all diplomatic relations with Hungary unless the armed Hungarian forces retire from Austria and from the territory in west Hungary that was promised to Austria under the Trianon treaty.

HAZARDS IN TRADE.
"Any salesman must be looked upon with misgiving that will make the general business of importing hazardous to the merchant who must buy his wares six months to a year or more in advance and be committed to make such purchases with no idea of what some American tariff and all the various little and little combinations charged with controlling price."

"The ease with which price fixing has become a fact in the United States was demonstrated, it is being pointed out, by Bernard M. Baruch in his organization and direction of the War Industries Board during the war period."

LITTLE SELLS FARM STUFF IN FACTORY

Shoe Workers Get Vegetables
Fresh Daily From Their
Co-operative Estate

Two big truck loads of vegetables are being delivered every day to employees of the A. E. Little Co. from the Roscoe Farm in Chelsea, which their millinaire employer has turned into a co-operative proposition with the workers.

Since Roscoe Farm, comprising 1,000 acres highly cultivated, now belongs in part to the 1,000 employees in Lynn and Brockton of the A. E. Little Co., Mr. Little has decided to bring the farm products to the factory door each day and save the players the time and car fares of traveling to Marlborough to secure their supplies.

The prices these workers are paying for the foodstuffs are far below the retail prices in the stores. The prices to factory help are even below wholesale, since they get the commodities at cost of production, and in this case the cost of the land is excluded.

Mr. Little said that Roscoe Farm is "God's acre" and his employees are entitled to share the fruits of the soil. All vegetables common in these parts are grown at the farm, and in addition there is a large herd of cattle for milk and butter, including tomatoes, potatoes, cabbage, onions, squash, corn, and even flowers, which are sold at the gate of the factory in the basement of the plant. The players die out they buy what they desire.

Mr. Little has directed that one of the first floor rooms on Blake street be converted into a lunch room for the workers. He said that the room served at cost in this restaurant and the players are able to save in their living costs.

HOPEDALE BRIDE ON HONEYMOON IN CHINA

Hopedale, Sept. 7.—A honeymoon to China, where the groom will sit in position as instructor of mathematics in Nanking University, followed the wedding here of Miss Marjorie Bodwell of Hopedale to Leonard Caldwell of Portland, Me. Miss Bodwell was a graduate of Sumner College, and first met her husband while a student there.

HAPGOOD URGES FAIR DEALING WITH FORD

Declares He Should Pay Only What Muscle Shoals Plant Is Worth

By NORMAN HAPGOOD

Editor of the Boston American, Washington, Sept. 7.—Mr. Ford, the leading expert in Germany on getting nitrogen from the air, makes two points in connection with Muscle Shoals besides those I have mentioned.

He speaks of the nearly inexhaustible deposits of high per cent. phosphate rock, and the consequent power of producing cheaply of ammonium phosphate containing roughly 46 per cent. of water soluble phosphoric acid and 53 per cent. nitrogen.

Although the United States can herself use 125,000 tons per year, he thinks there will be a surplus for competition in foreign markets.

As to the Norwegian situation he says: "The economy with which nitrogen can be produced in the Norwegian cyanamide plants is of a similar order, but the situation is not quite so favorable" as at Muscle Shoals.

But the peace aspect of this Ford offer is of much more interest than the war aspect. Secretary Weeks has announced attention of sending for Mr. Ford and it now seems safe to assume that the momentous decision will not be made in the dark but will receive adequate public attention.

Although I favor the Ford contract, I do it only because our people do not seem to have developed to a stage where they will understand through a government department function.

Mr. Ford, apart from his one crime in stirring up race hatred, has been a good citizen. He is not in the class of rich men who have made their fortunes by combination, by jugglery, by banker management. He has no watered securities and he is not sitting around howling for protection like some of our most bloated monopolies; he is not howling about the ineffectiveness of labor, he goes ahead and does his work and makes his money creatively.

Ford is a danger only in one respect. He is too big, too powerful for a democracy. Democrats do not need heretofore despots. They ought not to have kings. But our people do not agree with me in this objection to mere size to excess of power and certainly they will not pick out Ford, the best of the monarchs, to limit, while allowing the predatory ones to flourish and to furnish us with such unemployment as we see at present.

If we leave out this deep question of size and power, as one to which we are not devoted, and one to which we shall come only after many sad experiences, then it ought to be a simple matter to draw a contract with Ford.

The price he is to pay cannot be based on former wastes or extravagance. He should be made to pay what the property is worth now, not what it has been made to cost.

And even the most difficult question, the length of the lease, has been worked out. The important thing is that the government shall be able to reacquire the property whenever it may wish to do so, on terms fair to Ford.

With water-power developments sure to be the big industrial fact of the next twenty-five or fifty years, it is impossible to say when the government may wish to join up, or to control the joining up, of this great source of power with some general system such as the trunk line now being studied from the St. Lawrence to the industrial field of the South.

But if the government's power of reacquire is preserved the advantages of having the pioneer work in the hands of a constructive genius like Ford are obvious. In a more civilized era no doubt such a man will be in the service of the whole people, not flitting up a too unwieldy fortune and too extensive power for his own.

Taking the world as we find it the following are outstanding facts: This source of power and fertility is needed.

Congress has voted that it shall not be operated by the government.

Ford is the ablest man in the country to do the work well, and the only real bidder.

Therefore it becomes a mere matter of having the details discussed publicly and settled fairly.

We have government of good deal further toward that outcome than we had two weeks ago.

Would-Be Burglar Is Cowed By Valor of Woman

Frightened by the fearless behavior of Mrs. Herbert Dugan, wife of a local newspaper cartoonist, a would-be burglar fled from her home on Washington, near Claxton street, Roslindale, last night.

He had been seen climbing up the pillars of the veranda of the house by pedestrians, who watched him make his way to the third floor of the house but failed to send for the police.

Mrs. Dugan was in a bedroom with her baby and a younger sister of her husband, when the robber climbed through the window and dropped to the floor.

But she did not become frightened the thief did. He dashed down stairs and ran into the Arnold Arboretum.

For size and power, as one to which we are not devoted, and one to which we shall come only after many sad experiences, then it ought to be a simple matter to draw a contract with Ford.

The price he is to pay cannot be based on former wastes or extravagance. He should be made to pay what the property is worth now, not what it has been made to cost.

TOURISTS IN MAD SCRAMBLE FOR PASSAGE

60,000 Americans in Europe Having Hard Time Booking Berths for Trip Home

Paris, Sept. 7.—The annual scramble for passage home among the 60,000 American tourists and the hundreds of American social leaders is again the absorbing element of the dying season.

As usual the steamship companies are showing their customary disregard for the comfort, convenience and pocketbooks of passengers. Americans applying to the Paris office of the French line, for instance, are invariably told that "everything is booked up," until October—not a berth left.

Yet the judicious use of $50 in French notes with one of the booking clerks will usually open the door to home.

Unrecovered—that is, if the amount paid in August, 1914, are expected—amounts are being paid by Americans in a hurry to luckier companies, amounts which they will hold reservations.

One American in Paris—there are probably others—states that he makes a regular living in this way. He makes a number of reservations early in the summer in various cases, for which he keeps a nominal sum, and then sells them at this time of the year for double what they are worth.

Even the American line ships, shunned by many on account of their hazy interiors, are booked up two months ahead. Some tourists are making up their minds to stay here until Christmas.

Others, who brought over only modest means, are calling home frantically for money to pay their hotel bills, which in every instance have grown twice as high as they expected.

Despite the home-ward rush, however, many Americans show no signs of leaving.

ZR-2 MEMORIAL IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY

London, Sept. 7.—Memorial services for the victims of the ZR-2 disaster were held in Westminster Abbey today, that venerable edifice being crowded to its utmost capacity.

Bishop Hyle, dean of Westminster, officiated. King George was represented by Sir Hugh Trenchard, British air marshal. Queen Mary was represented by Mrs. Douglas, daughter of the Duke of York by Wing Commander Louis Ureig.

Here Is a Chance to Buy a Wife for $3,000

Chicago, Sept. 7.—Miss Catherine Peterson yearns for pretty clothes and an education, and has decided to sell herself for $3,000 to consummate her desires.

To say one who will provide $3,000 who will give herself in marriage, she declared today, "I will marry at once if necessary," she said, "but I would prefer to wait until I have finished school."

Miss Peterson is twenty, a blonde and weighs 130 pounds.

BUSINESS MEN TO TOUR HARBOR SEPTEMBER 15

Hundreds of invitations to important shippers and manufacturers for short throughout New England to attend a big "get together day" for touring the port of Boston were sent out today by the Maritime Association of the Boston Chamber of Commerce. The date selected is September 15, and the program includes a trip of inspection of the harbor on board the steamboat Rose Standish, a dinner at the Ponchartraine Inn and address. Rear Admiral Gleaves, commander of the Charlestown Navy Yard, has promised the services of a day-band for the day.

$1500 FIRE IN WEST END MATTRESS FACTORY

Backs from a jacking machine on the first floor of the four-story brick building at No. 39 Lancaster street, West End, set fire to a mass of mattresses and started a blaze that kept burning for an hour today, and did more than $1,500 damage. The building is occupied by the Standard Upholstery Company, of which Richard Cohen is the proprietor.

HARDING CALLS FOR MAJOR MEASURES

Wants Railroad and Foreign Debt Funding as Well as Tariff and Tax

By Associated Press. Washington, Sept. 7.—The hope is expressed by President Harding in a letter reviewing the achievements of the Republican administration that Congress, before the end of the extraordinary session, will enact, in addition to tariff and tax legislation, the foreign debt funding and the railroad debt funding bills as well as other important measures.

The letter, addressed to Senator McCormick of Illinois, was made public last night, and it is understood will be used in the campaign in New Mexico, where Senator Hiram, appointed to fill the unexpired term of Secretary of the Interior Fall, is a candidate for reelection. It is also considered by Republican leaders as a reply to recent attacks by Democratic leaders on the record of the Republican party in Congress.

"We have made much progress toward retrenchment and greatly increased efficiency," the President asserts in reviewing the achievements of Congress. "I cannot but account it a monumental achievement which has marked the work of the extraordinary session down to the time of its recess."

200 AIR SERVICE DEATHS WERE PREVENTABLE

Woodhouse Demands Federal Inquiry Into Contracts for Useless Aircraft

(Henry Woodhouse, president of the Aerial League of America and chairman of the committee co-operating with the government in investigating the post-war aeronautical situation, has written a series of seven articles exclusively for "The Boston American," which he declares make a thousand million dollars in graft on government aircraft contracts; bare the cause of several recent air tragedies and show how this air craze is unleashing millions of dollars in dangers and obsolescence on the government.)

By HENRY WOODHOUSE, President Aerial League of America and Head Aeronautical Writer.

Written Exclusively for "The Boston American."

In the past two years about 200 air service men, including a dozen ranking officers, have been killed. Investigation shows the natural hazard of flying caused few of these deaths. The majority were due to preventable accidents.

Training of these men cost an average of $50,000 per man. Their deaths cost almost as much, as each death involved the destruction of airplanes, motors and other equipment. These available tragedies, therefore, cost the American public at least $20,000,000 in addition to the inestimable loss of life.

An investigation shows that the causes of many of these preventable tragedies still exist. Unless immediate steps are taken to institute sweeping Federal grant jury investigations, the air service death toll will continue to increase and the public be forced to pay more millions for air craft destroyed.

The air service, during the past few months, has placed contracts for inferior, mechanically faulty, dangerous aircraft. These aircraft are absolutely necessary. Unless these contracts are immediately canceled, a waste of $10,000,000 of government funds will result.

The bare construction cost of these aircraft will total $10,000,000, while motors, instruments, guns, machine guns, racks, packing, transportation of assembly, together with cost of outfitting, will bring the total over $10,000,000.

Possessively classed as "pursuit planes," American fighters who might attempt to pursue enemy fighters in such places would soon be at the mercy of the faster and better equipped enemy machines. There are hundreds of better planes than these stored away in government warehouses, unused.

Another order is for thirty-two biplanes of the type that have caused the deaths of a score of persons since May 27, 1921. Machines of this type have been seen rotting away at Air Service depots.

Three dirigibles identical to the two dirigibles destroyed August 21 at Far Rockaway, and the C-10, which exploded over Chicago, have been ordered. Dirigibles of this type have proved unsafe and unsatisfactory.

SALEM BOYS DIE AFTER FIRE IN OLD SHED

Fatality Follows Blaze in Pile of Straw When Victims Play With Matches

Salem, Sept. 7.—Peter L. Deschene, six, and his brother Raymond P. Deschene, eight, are dead today as the result of burns sustained while playing with matches in a shed in the yard of their home, No. 11 Broad street.

Peter died at the Salem Hospital last night and Raymond today.

The boys, playing in an old shed used as a storage house, lighted matches to investigate a dark corner, one falling on a pile of straw, which before the boys had rushed screaming from the burning shed, their clothes were a mass of flames.

Alma Lemella was severely burned about the hands and arms when he tried to heat out the flames with his hands. The boys' father, Peter Deschene, extinguished the flames by rolling his sons on the ground.

JABBED OFFICER WITH ICE PICK, GETS MOUTH

Frank Silver of Second street, East Cambridge, was arrested on Monday in the House of Correction by Judge Wentworth in Municipal Court today upon conviction of assault and battery upon Pauline Goss, 20, of the City street station. Smith testified that when he attempted to arrest Silver at Leverett and Charles streets West End, on a charge of drunkenness, the man jabbed him twice with an ice pick. The charge of drunkenness was picked up.

NO TRACE OF $20,000 RINGS IN PULLMAN

Despite an all-day search, no clue was obtained of three rings, valued at $20,000, the property of Mrs. M. C. McBride of St. Louis, which she claims she left in the coach "Princess" when it arrived in the North Station Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. McBride left for St. Louis Monday.

CUBAN LEGION TO AID SPAIN IS PROPOSED

WOMEN OF BAY STATE FAIL TO SEEK HERRICK

Attitude Puzzles Congressmen Running Personal "Beauty Contest"

By Universal Service, Washington, Sept. 7.—Girls from all parts of the country are seeking to join Representative Manuel Herrick's personal "beauty contest."

"I've gotten letters from all over Virginia, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Kansas, Oklahoma and most everywhere," said the eccentric bachelor member of Congress from Oklahoma.

Mr. Herrick cannot understand why the girls of Boston and Massachusetts have not entered the lists for first prize. In his contest, which is first prize.

"I don't understand it," the Oklahoma man said when he appeared at his office. "I haven't heard a word from Boston or Massachusetts. It's about the only part I haven't got letters from."

After his bitter experiences with the police against father, husbands and brothers of Washington beauty contest entrants and designing ladies, Mr. Herrick said he was seeking to avoid further publicity.

ASKS HABEAS WRIT FOR DEPORTED CHINAMAN

Wong Tin, editor of the "Chinese American," was arrested by Acting Secretary of Labor E. J. Henning, who had a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the Federal Court through his attorney, John G. Sullivan, who contends that the petitioner is a citizen and is forcibly restrained of his liberty.

Judge James H. Norton, Jr., will give a hearing to the petition next Monday.

CHILE THREATENS TO QUIT THE LEAGUE

Geneva, Sept. 7.—Donor Upward, head of the Chilean delegation in the League of Nations meeting, today served formal notice upon the League Assembly that Chile would withdraw from the League if the demands of Bolivia were accepted.

The Chilean envoy said that this country held that the League of Nations Assembly was not competent to revise the Treaty of 1914 between Chile and Bolivia.

The Disarmament Committee of the League held a meeting this afternoon. Chairman Brandt of Sweden urged the importance of the League taking serious action without waiting for the results of the Washington conference.

Subcommittees were appointed to handle the next report of the League of National Council upon disarmament.

MISS RATHGEB, ACCUSER OF OFFICER, TO WED

Olga Rathgeb, No. 21 Edgell street, Jamaica Plain, who won public notice when she charged Patrolman Orlin H. Bourgeois of the Roxbury Crossing station with attacking her near the Parker Hill Hospital last week, is to become Mrs. John Kirsapoulos this evening at St. Andrew's Church, Jamaica Plain.

Tomorrow morning the bridegroom and bride are expected to apply at the Roxbury District Court for a warrant for the arrest of the patrolman.

OFFICERS TAP WALL IN RAID ON BUFFET

Regents Street and Moline of the City Hall avenue police station have an ear for liquor. When they raided the Cornhill Buffet on Cornhill street, with a warrant to search for intoxicating liquors, they found nothing in sight. The two officers started tapping and saw they were not alone. A caller behind them. They finally opened a secret closet in the wall. In the closet the police allege they found two and one-half gallons of whiskey, three one-gallon jugs, a pint of gin, and a bottle of rum.

PLANTERS WANT EVEN HIGHER COTTON PRICE

Sensational Jump in Market
Stimulates Big Business
Boom in South

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 7.—Disregarding so far as the market is concerned, the fact that spot cotton in every southern market is now commanding 25 cents a pound or something near it. Southern planters are sitting back smiling and waiting for the price to go higher.

The fact that the recent sensational advance in the price of this staple which is the backbone, ribs and all the rest of the South's business economy, has put more than half a billion dollars in the South's pocketbook is only being realized in this fashion.

Banks of the South are now offering to loan 75 per cent. of the value of the cotton now held to planters, the first time such a generous offer has been made since cotton was commanding around 40 cents a pound during the war.

Through business directors of the South's rehabilitation are taking advantage of the sudden prosperity to preach to the farmers the fact that it is decreased production and consequent marketing agreements which have sent prices up. They are urging that it be continued.

BOLL WEEVIL FARMERS' FRIEND.

Farmers are now realizing that they can raise something besides cotton for a profit and are cutting back on it. The South, in a broad sense, has ceased to be a one-crop country. A rough figure shows that about 6,000,000 bales of cotton are now being sold in the United States. The new crop is estimated at about 7,000,000 bales, with a tendency to lower this estimate in some quarters.

These figures cannot be relied on. Any variations will be downward.

The Boll Weevil has been so rampant in the South that it has been a friend to the farmer for he has been forced to raise other crops. There never will be another 14,000,000-bale crop.

The weevil is too good at waiting it up for one thing, and for another the planter has found he can make just as much money by helping produce a 7,000,000-bale crop.

STIMULATES BUSINESS.

Merchants in this section already are beginning to feel the stimulus in business. Expectations are that the South will emerge from the morass of depression without the memory of the present starvation without much delay.

Despite the present reluctance of farmers to accept 25 cents a pound for their cotton, expectation is that the movement to the markets will start soon.

This means, of course, that the farmers can pay off their debts at the small merchant; the merchant can clean up his city bank; the city bank can pay the city; the city can pay the state; the state can pay the federal government; the federal government can pay the world.

Yesterday the limit in advance was posted in both spot and future markets at New Orleans and practically the same thing happened everywhere. Predictions were heard that thirty-cent cotton is in sight.

Virginia Cotton Plants to Resume

Petersburg, Va., Sept. 7.—After a suspension of nine months, the cotton plants at New Orleans and other markets in this section of the State, will resume operations as soon as the weather is so good that the Apalachicola River to supply power, officials said today. Operations are being revised in increased numbers. It was said, and full time operations are contemplated.

TEXTILE MILLS RESUME FULL SHIFTS

Larger Cotton Goods Plants
Working Overtime to Supply Orders

The business crisis in the New England textile industry has been passed. Cotton and woolen goods mills in nearly every manufacturing center in the New England States are again booming, many of them working day and night, and none of them on less than a 60 per cent. of capacity basis.

Business leaders here, commenting upon the boom in the textile industry, believe that an actual shortage of labor is likely to be one of the results of the sudden shift in conditions. It was said that many mills which have gone on day and night work are finding it hard to obtain trained operatives. Mill men predict that many who left the city for farms and other lines of employment during the slump will return before Winter.

These facts and figures given out by the United States government investigators are accompanied by the announcement from the big cotton markets of this country and England, that the price of cotton is jumping upward by great leaps and bounds.

The southern staple advanced $12 a bale in the Liverpool market yesterday and $10—the third allowed under the rules—in the New York Cotton Exchange.

GAIN IN STOCK VALUES.

As the latest reports showed more than 1,000,000 bales of cotton in storage in southern warehouses the Liverpool advance represents a gain of more than $10,000,000 in the value of the staple in that one day.

The total advance in the value of cotton held in the mills and warehouses of the country is now estimated by investigators at more than half a billion dollars, and still increasing.

Coming simultaneously with this increase in the price of the staple, New England cotton mills are re-

Stop Writing "Love Notes," Says Irish Journal

By International News Service.

Dublin, Sept. 7.—"This writing of love letters should cease," said the Freeman's Journal in commenting today upon the peace note exchange between Eamon De Valera and Premier Lloyd George. "A few hours' plain talk, we feel confident, would clear up the whole situation."

perated to be making tremendous increases in their consumption of cotton for manufacturing.

This business men declared, means a great lessening of the unemployment menace in New England.

The demand for cotton goods already working overtime to supply the insatiable demand for cotton goods. Fall River, where many of the mills have been shut down or on part time, the resumption has been on full time basis. This took effect today.

New Bedford mills, where higher quality textiles are manufactured, the larger mills today went on a 50 per cent. basis, with every prospect that full time would be the next step.

FULL TIME AT LOWELL.

At Lowell, where until very recently the spectre of unemployment was beginning to seriously alarm the business leaders, the mills today went on full time operation, and the biggest mills of Manchester, N. H., today started overtime operations. Whether the mills are working on less than 50 per cent. of normal.

In Lawrence it was reported today that the mills are in receipt of important orders and those which are not now busy are expected to open within a day or two.

What applies to the cotton textile industry also appears to apply to the woolen.

William D. Rogers, president of the American Woolen Company, which employs approximately 10,000 operatives, today declared that the mills are assured of capacity business during the Winter.

This in itself, it was pointed out, will do much to quiet the fear of unemployment.

WATSON URGED AS LEADER IN LODGE'S PLACE

Indiana Senator Suggested to Take Up Duties at Head of Senate Majority

Washington, Sept. 7.—The selection of a new Republican leader in being much discussed by these Senators who remain here. Interest centers around James E. Watson of Indiana to take the position now filled by Henry Cabot Lodge.

Lodge has been chosen as an American delegate on the disarmament conference. He will be busy on that job from November 1 for an indefinite period, probably running three or four months. No intimation has been heard that Lodge desires to relinquish his majority leadership.

On the contrary, he has stoutly insisted that he will continue and that he will be available for consultations at any time, his duties not calling him away from the capital. Lodge frequently has scoffed at the idea that he will step aside.

It is known that there has been considerable grumbling among Republican leaders because of Lodge's leadership. Whether this will extend to the dimensions of a mutiny cannot be predicted.

Watson is a protégé of Penrose and will have the full support of that former head of the "Old Guard."

RICHARD SPILLANE

America's Foremost Business Analyst on a

"How's Business?" Tour

Of the United States and Canada!

Men say the worst is over, that the tide of business has turned, that the sun of Prosperity is rising. Spillane, an authority, will tell us the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. He has started upon a journey North, East, South and West, and for the benefit of readers of the Boston American he will present pictures of business conditions in every section of the United States and the most important centres of Canada.

Spillane's investigation will embrace Manufacturing, Agriculture, Finance, Transportation and Merchandising.

He will discover what economies and what changes have been wrought in each of the regional districts by the drastic upheaval which America has undergone.

He will study Labor, the Housing Problem, Hydro-Electric Developments, Road Building and Shipping Prospects (coastwise and international)—in fact, every condition which in the major sense now affects America's prosperity.

Mr. Spillane's letters will present that news which every reader of the Boston American most eagerly awaits today. He will ascertain whether some of our foremost business observers are correct in their belief that the turning point has now been reached—whether, from drastic liquidation, business is now STARTING UPWARD.

This information will be of the utmost importance not only to America but to the world at large—for America is the axis upon which the business world revolves, industrially, financially and sentimentally.

COACH BOB FISHER GLAD TO HAVE 88 OUT FOR HARVARD ELEVEN

Harvard's football eleven may be headed toward dangerous shores this fall, but the number of men on soldiers' feet is not falling, and Yale and Princeton, especially, know what the Crimson coaches can do if provided any sort of material to work upon. Eighty-eight candidates for the eleven places on the varsity team reported yesterday to Head Coach Bob Fisher, and this list is certain to reach the hundred mark today. The coaches are enthusiastic over the numbers, and a bit hopeful about the quality of the players.

Only three of the twelve available men who liked Yale last November failed to show up for the initial practice. George Owen was the only regular not on the list. The other missing letter men were Jerry Adams, third-string quarterback, and Charlie Turner, second string center, who is due for a crack at tackle this fall. Owen is taking a rest after running in a boys' camp in New Hampshire. He branched out of his studies during the summer but it is rumored entirely untrue. Johnson is summing on the Cape, and Turner is playing a little in a Maine summer resort orchestra.

Head Coach Fisher last night in getting his hands to work. Coaches Davis, Farnsworth, Yale, Nelson, and Scoville, Walter Trenchard and Tommie Woods took charge of the various activities of the coach. Fisher, having been deck wadded, threw the medicine ball and did other rudimentary stuff designed to get out sweat and harden up the players. Trenchard left today for a fortnight vacation, and Scoville will take charge of the team during his absence.

Fred Bradley, head backfield coach, the assistance of Eddie Mahan and Jimmie Knox, while Winnow and Billie Turner, corner backs, and Charlie Turner, center, each had a group under his charge. The backfield group, which has been with Bob Fisher for two years as head coach, but several in connection in two weeks time. Ernie Soury, who played on Charlie Bricker and Eddie Mahan's teams, will succeed Scoville, starting his work after the present coach has commenced his law studies.

Harvard did lots with the forward pass last fall. But in the last game, the Princeton game in the last minute of the game, the pass was dropped. And old Yale was pummed under a scintillating display of throw balls which resulted in a defeat. Bull burling the leather at Yale and Owen, with varying accuracy. The crimson has started the first thing to ground the players in passing.

Coches Pitman, Bradley and Lewis formed the backfield ends and quarterbacks in one group yesterday, and the other group, passing started the aerial game only a few minutes after the start work had commenced.

Charlie Bull, the regular quarterback, still showed lots of cunning in dodging away the ball and unusual accuracy for so early in the season. Conlin, the backfield end, was a one second. Bull reported weighing 150 pounds, exactly the same as last year. Conlin, who was started last fall, Conlin's foundation was 145, eight pounds more than last year, and probably sufficient argument for his retention on the varsity. He continues last year's record even when he had little to do but scrimmage against the varsity. This powerful Webber should step aside for no one this fall.

Ernie Soury, a past master in this line, and an experienced coach, should prove one of the most valuable assistants Fisher has, particularly as he will also give the players a great deal of attention. There were few seasons ago as a little when he was in the football line.

Ernie Soury and Wesley Bricker, second string guards in the Yale game last season were the only seven freshmen out. Bricker was in practice at 200 pounds and lost five pounds during the summer. Bricker weighed an even 200 when he was out. The coach, Jim Fowler, has been with him for a few days, and he is a good player, and this is hardly likely to be the big Olinbman in the future to enter the Harvard Law School late this month.

Good news was often by a bad loss yesterday when it became known that Lewis McGee, two times city crew captain, has decided to leave to row and sail. McGee is a Harvard problem there instead of being the football player. McGee was a member of the Harvard crew team, and Captain Kahn was captain. McGee's departure is a blow to the Harvard crew team, and this is hardly likely to be the big Olinbman in the future to enter the Harvard Law School late this month.

The good news concerns the return of Wynant Hubbard, regular right tackle, who withdrew from college last winter. Hubbard, it seems, will stay if he can return to his studies, and the school officer will call upon him to decide this. He secured a leave of absence and got a job. With the football season in the offing, nothing looks better to

FOUR REGULARS NUCLEUS FOR BOSTON COLLEGE FOOTBALL TEAM

Only four regulars were numbered among the forty candidates who reported at University Heights for the Boston College football team. Herb Treat has gone to Dartmouth; McNaughton, whose playing as a sub last year would have earned him a regular berth this season, is at Dartmouth; and Ben Roderick has not yet given a definite statement regarding his return.

Coach Cavanaugh is not at all discouraged at the outlook for a successful football season, however, and voiced the enthusiasm of the candidates on their first day of practice when he declared that the team that beats Boston College this fall will have to go like the w. h. abode of the wicked.

With four regulars as a nucleus, and plenty of promising material, Cavanaugh is confident that he will turn out a team worthy to represent the Maroon and Gold on the gridiron.

Captain Tony Comerford is in the pink of condition, having played half a summer up in Maine. George Kelly, the husky guard from McFadden, divided his vacation between playing ball and resting up on the farm. Jim Doyle, center, and Bill Kelly, fullback, never listed better than they did when they donned the red today. Already there is a sick list, however. Jimmy Linton is out with a broken toe and will not report for practice before next Monday. It is feared that Tommy Evans is out of football for good. Evans, who was laid up last season with a broken shoulder, fractured it again this summer.

A good punter, as badly needed by the team, is looked for by Charlie Darling, who came from Minneapolis, Minn. Darling can play any backfield position, and is credited with being able to punt sixty yards. Leo Connelley, another newcomer from Coburn Classical Academy, Maine, is out for halfback. Connelley was last year's all-Maine interscholastic halfback.

Other candidates for backfield positions are Charlie Kelly, formerly of Norwood High, and Ray Patton, former Dorchester High and Deas Academy star. Among the candidates who come to the field with good prep school records are: Smallin of Newton, N. J. High School, and Cullinan of Boston College High. Smallin is a tackle who tips the scale at 235 pounds. He is well built, and has very little action fat. Cullinan is a young giant, who holds the New England high heavyweight amateur championship.

There will be keen rivalry among the candidates for the berth left vacant by Jack McNaughton, who quit school last year. The Doris brothers, Bill Kelly and Jim, are after the place, as well as Dulles, a sub, and a newcomer, Roderick.

The quarterback position is open, with the Phillips brothers from the team as the principal contenders. Carr, a sub, and Leo Hughes, who captained the hockey team, are out for the fullback position. Although Cavanaugh says that the captain of the team will have to make it as well as any one else, it looks as though Comerford will hold down one of the positions.

WHAT WRECKS MARRIAGE? If you want Lou Telleghen's opinion on the subject, read next Sunday's Boston Globe. Another newcomer from Coburn Classical Academy, Maine, is out for halfback. Connelley was last year's all-Maine interscholastic halfback.

of truth he had once recalled her still young and beautiful and boyish memory of a very pale child with very big eyes, unexpressively smiling and with a few wisps of hair broken out known as "Alice-Kim." It came as a shock to him to find that the girl who had been created by a quiet-mannered and extremely self-possessed young man was now a woman of thirty. Her hair was almost a

ADVICE TO LOVELORN

Ask Him to Call
Dennis was a little nervous, but he knew that if he didn't ask her now, he might never have the chance. He took a deep breath and said, "Hi, Helen. I've been thinking about you a lot. Would you mind calling me sometime?" Helen smiled and said, "Of course, I'd love to. What's your number?"

"You are coming to see me," said she, looking at her book. At last she laid it down, and, after the fashion of many nervous sufferers, faced the thing that was tormenting her.
 "What was she afraid of?"
 The answer came promptly. She was afraid that Daniel Hoag, Jr., would call on her, would annoy her further by his presence.
 She resolved to ask her landlady to sell any callers that Miss Gorman had no place in which to receive her friends.
 "Yes, if she did this, it would

"I am glad," my dear, "Miss Dalrymple says, 'I am glad to hear that you have got acquainted with her.' I am glad, too, that you have got acquainted with her."

"Heath wasn't safe—no lading."
 A knock startled her, and, as for an

 When she could at last reply her

 Nevertheless she entered.

the story of the difficulty between "Cappy" and his first mate, Matt Feasley. Suffice it to say that Meighan makes a wholly satisfactory Matt. Agnes Ayres is seen as Florrie Ricks, a colorless part into which she fails to put much feeling. The story has been well woven, and well directed, without being in any way startling.

scenes on board the Retriever, for I saw those in the making. On the screen the scenes seemed consecutive and as if made evenly without a break of thought. In reality they were made with several hours between, in some cases with several days. The fight scenes in which Matt "beats up" the tremendous "All Hands and Feet" Peterson were taken slowly and painstakingly. Each punch was mapped out and each grunt of the fighters was rehearsed. In the picture it looked as if it was a spontaneous and murderous soul-

In the companion picture, "Board and Room," Constance Binney is again called upon to recoup the family fortunes. In the last few pictures she has made this same difficulty hers come up. And again she achieves it with more than a little adventure and romance thrown in.

"Board and Room" is an Irish story telling of the Kildorans' lost fortune. Lady Norseen decides to rent the castle to an American, Terence O'Brien. Meanwhile she masquerades as a maid and he eventually invites her to "come out of the kitchen" while he explains that he is her forty-second cousin and has paid off the mortgage.

It has a hackneyed plot, but the treatment has originality and humor. There are points that seem unnatural, particularly in speech and actions of the players, but since these seldom failed to bring a laugh yesterday they may be excused in favor of the box-office. "Make them laugh and
